pretty and becoming dressing jacket in her wardrobe, it is se or over a dress skirt as it happens. This one is very attractive, while at the same time it is absolutely simple. The peplum makes a part of it and the fulness is held at the waist line by either a ribbon or a belt, also it can be made with long or with short sleeves. but since almost all houses are warm the short sleeves are apt to be pre-ferred for garments of this sort. Here the petticoat is made of taffets with the flounce of the silk embroidered. It is a handsome skirt and at the same time a serviceable skirt, but the pattern is a good one for lingerie material as well as for silk. It would be pretty made of batiste or of fine cambric with the flounce of the material trimmed with lace insertion and with a lace friil, or, if a more practical taffeta petticont is wanted, it would be pretty to use a plain silk for the skirt and a striped silk cut on the blas for the flounce Such treatments are much liked and such skirts are much in demand. The present is the season of he petticoat, and taffeta is one of the best liked materials. Plaid taffeta makes pretty petticoats, too, and for such the flounce could be cut on the bias and, if liked, the flounce could be trimmed with little

For the medium size the dressing jacket will require 4% yards of material 27 inches wide, 3% yards 36 or 3% yards 44 with 3 yards of insertion and 3 yards of edging. For the petticoat will be needed 5 yards of material 27 inches wide, 3% yards 36 with 3% yards of embroidery 16 inches wide for the flounce.

The May Manton pattern of the dressing jacket No. 9201 is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure and of the petticoat No. 8951 in sizes from 24 to 34 inches waist measure.
